International Energy Conservation Code 2003 (International Code Council Series) International Code Council

The 2003 International Energy Conservation Code is designed to provide up-to-date energy conservation provisions for residential and commercial buildings. It addresses building envelope requirements for thermal performance and air leakage, as well as the installation of energy efficient mechanical, lighting, and power systems. The model code regulations found in this book help result in the optimal utilization of fossil fuel and nondepletable resources in all communities. Prescriptive- and performance-based approaches to energy efficient design are emphasized. The 2003 edition is fully compatible with all the International Codes published by the International Code Council (ICC).
