This course will show you how to build a clean, responsive, and powerful content management website fast with little or no coding experience. It will start you off from scratch and show you how to put it all together, piece by piece, like playing Lego. You will end up with the ultimate website good for most any businesses like doctor's office, coffee shops, schools, churches, non-profits, etc... Everything you need for this course is included as downloadable files so you can reuse them for other projects in the future. There are over 4 hours of video content so you can be done with this course in about half a day if you choose to. The finished website include a shopping cart so you can upload products and start accepting payments online right away with Paypal or credit cards. Other features include a slide show, picture gallery, video page, staff page, downloadable page, contact us page with feedback and submit form, a blog page, and an about page. This course will start you off with choosing the right web host and put you in the driver's seat right away. In other words you will start building the website as soon as you are able to sign into your web host's cpanel. If you follow the course step by step from beginning to the end you will end up with exactly what was promised in the beginning. Why take this course? If you want to put the 500 page book on web development and computer programming down for now and get your your hands dirty with a practical, real-world web development project then this course is for you. If you are a job seeker who wants to gain some real world web development experience fast by building a real world project on your own then this course is for you too! Imagine looking over the shoulder of a professional web developer as he or she builds a website from scratch. Your learning curve will be exponential. The practical knowledge and skills acquired will have immediate and real world application. And best of all, by the end of the course, you will end up with a world class responsive website powered by Drupal in your tool box ready for you to use as a template and a starting point for your next web project.
