Planning a wedding can be a hugely expensive undertaking. However, it is often the imaginative details and individual finishing touches that can make a wedding a truly memorable occasion. This beautifully presented book shows how to save money by making an elegant range of wedding accessories, from floral decorations to table settings, napkins, favours and stationery. And as a bonus, the carefully made and personalized pieces will become cherished mementoes. The fifteen projects are grouped into four sections: Flowers, Table Decorations, Confetti and Favours, and Stationery. Each project has step-by-step instructions and the finished pieces are shown in sparkling photographs. There are also variations to each project, showing different ways of adapting it to suit a personal style. The projects use a whole range of different materials and cover a variety of techniques, all of which are clearly explained, from wiring flowers for buttonholes to simple sewing techniques for napkins and tablecloths. For the bride-to-be (or groom!) or anyone close to the happy couple planning the perfect wedding, this book is full of inspiration and practical advice for creating priceless wedding accessories.
